

Laura Juan Galmés

Clinical Data Scientist

@RodanoTech

I was born in Spain and then moved in Switzerland. I studied in Geneva, where I earned a Bachelor degree in Computer Science and a Masters in Neuroscience.

I like to work with research in medicine because there is a lot to be discovered and it could one day help anyone on earth! In my job, I use computers and data to answer important questions, such as: “Is this medicine efficient for that disease?”, “Can we use this machine to detect that condition in advance?”, ...

But most of all, I love travelling with friends, practicing ice-skating, watching Netflix series and spending time with my family and cats!

Are you interested in studying science in the future? Not sure how to understand what is your dream career?

Come discuss it with me at the Mentoring Café!
